BOY SCOUT WORK IN ALBERTA IS SHOWING GROWTH

Value of the Boy Scout movement was voiced at the annual meeting of the Boy Scout Association of Alberta held in Edmonton, with Lieut. Governor Walsh as one of the principal speakers.

Col. J. H. Woods, of Calgary, provincial commissioner, said although he had just entered his second year as commissioner and would consequently not submit a detailed report, he had been convinced of the immense value and greatness of the Boy Scout movement. It was in the rural districts that the movement was of particular significance, the commissioner pointed out. The cities and larger towns had their societies and leagues to instruct the youngsters, but in the rural districts an organization such as the scouts was a splendid thing for inculcating those lofty principles in the minds of growing boys that would come to full fruition in later years.

Executive Secretary Baclman gave his annual report. Important progress in the organized camping system programme was also stressed. There had been a total enrolment of 1,500 boys in 60 registered camps throughout the province in the months of July and August. Meritorious and gallantry awards to members of the Alberta Association were detailed by the executive commissioner. H. O. Westrup, of Hilt, crest, was elected member of the Alberta council for 1933.

BELLEVUE RATEPAYERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Bellevue school district was held in the L.O.O.F. hall Wednesday, January 18th. The meeting was presided over by the chairman, W. J. Case.

The secretary-treasurer's report was heard. Report showed the district to be in good shape financially, there being a balance to the credit of the school district in the bank of about $15,000 on January 1st, which was considered by the ratepayers to be a good balance to start the year with. After the secretary-treasurer's report there was a general discussion on the conditions of the district, questions being asked by several of the ratepayers and answered by the members of the board to the satisfaction of all. One of the questions asked was what action if any had been taken by the trustees to reduce the burden of the taxpayers, and the chairman informed the meeting that the board thought this year it would be possible to reduce the mill rate from 30 mills to about 24.

The nomination of trustees was the next business. B. Simon's term expired with the meeting. There were two nominated, one to represent the union, their choice being the president of the union, J. Price; the other was C. Ritchie, of the West Canadian Collieries office, to represent the moderate thinking people. The meeting decided that the election of trustees will take place on Wednesday, Jan. 25, the polling place being the L.O.O.F. hall and the polling time 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., so as to give every one a chance to register their vote.—Ex.

A man who believes in looking ahead and preparing for the future says that if you have a girl baby you should begin putting aside money now to support your future son-in-law.

From Moscow, Russia, comes the news this week that four men were sentenced to death and three others to ten years in prison for stealing tin from the government warehouse, as it caused great harm to the workers' supply. On reading this one wonders what the advocates of Soviet Russia's form of government in this country would do if we had such laws in Canada. They would be supplying the neck for the hangman's rope or filling up our gaols.

FORMER BLAIRMORE WOMAN DIES AT TRAIL

Mrs. Jennie Patton, aged 63 years, and a former resident of Cranbrook, passed away at Trail last Friday. During the past year Mrs. Patton had been practically confined to her home. She was a patient in the Trail-Tadone hospital for three months last summer.

Eight years ago she travelled to California, remaining there until about two years ago, when she returned to Trail. She was a member of the United Church and of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Patton was born in Brownburg, Que., in 1864, the daughter of Thomas Carpenter, of Ottawa, Ont. She was married to Isaac Patton in Montreal in 1884 and was predeceased by her husband in 1927.

In 1900 the Patton family moved from the East to Cranbrook, where they remained until they came to Trail in 1920. From 1928 until 1930, Mrs. Patton lived with a daughter in California and since then has mothered her home in Trail with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Patton.

Mrs. Patton had 10 children—seven sons and three daughters. One son, Thomas, died in 1893, and another, Robert, died in 1912. The other five boys served in the Great War. Frederick died in 1916. A daughter, Olive, passed away at Blairmore in 1921.

Surviving Mrs. Patton are one daughter, Mrs. R. G. Lewis, and two sons, Isaac and George, of Trail; a son Silas, of Vancouver; a son David, of Coquitla, Alta., and another daughter, Mrs. Schuinker, of Bozeman Park, California.

Mrs. Frederic Patton, of Cranbrook, a daughter-in-law and her son David, of Coquitla, Alta., were at Trail to attend the funeral, Kimbley Courier.

The Patton family resided in Blairmore for a number of years prior to 1920.

A BOOST FOR ADVERTISING

In a recent letter from the G. F. Willis Inc. Atlanta, Ga., the following statement is made:

"Approximately $15,000,000 have been spent by us in newspaper advertising during the past fifteen years, and sales have exceeded 100,000,000 bottles of medicine during that period. Unusually fine products, together with extraordinarily comprehensive and effective newspaper advertising campaign, have made this record possible. More than $2,000,000 have been expended in newspaper advertising during the past four years."

"THE FIRST YEAR"

Instead of the regular form of service at the United Church next Sunday evening, the service will be a sort of "family gathering," when church members, their families and friends will gather for an evening of song, to be followed by the annual congregational meeting.

"We made the merchants, and we will break them." "The coal company are holding our property and we're going to take it," "booh anyone who really loves work and desires to earn an honest living," is a purport of the line of guff contained in the silly pretences of the local Communists.

Bright Colours Coolest

Color Has Much To Do With Keeping Refrigerator Cars Cool

The current issue of the Cold Storage News Letter, issued by the Dominion Dairy and Cold Storage Branch, contains reference to the results of tests which have been made to determine the relative value of bright and dark colours in keeping refrigerator cars cool. These studies show that the colour with which a car was painted had much to do with the degree of penetration of solar heat into the car. There was less penetration of solar heat through light-coloured paints than through others. Under like conditions of radiation and exposure to sunshine, car surfaces painted red were better than those painted black, it was found. It was found also that the difference between air and surface temperatures for stationary cars was about twice as great as for moving cars.

Does Not Happen Often

Remarkable Record Concerning Ex-Presidents of United States

Only four times in the history of the United States have there been periods in which there were no living ex-presidents.

The first was between the death of Washington in December, 1799, and the inauguration of Thomas Jefferson in 1801.

The second occurred during General Grant's term as President, when the death of Andrew Johnson in July, 1875, left the nation without a living ex-President until Grant was succeeded in 1877 by President Hayes.

The third period in which there was no living ex-President occurred in June, 1908, when Grover Cleveland died.

The death of Calvin Coolidge creates the condition for the fourth time.

Recipe For Long Life

"Stay Single" Says Oldest Woman in South America

To live long, don't marry. This is the advice of Donna Rosa Hunecho Tobar, the oldest woman in South America who has reached the age of 129. At her home in Santiago, Chile, she said, as she smiled through her wrinkles: "I should never have lived so long if I had had a husband." Her birth is inscribed in the register of the old Spanish Colonial Church. She still takes in washing, the work she began as a girl when the Chileans were fighting the Spaniards for independence.

FAMOUS AVIATORS IN NEW ENVIRONMENT

Practically every photograph taken of Amy Johnson Mollison and her no less famous husband, Captain Mollison, in recent months has shown the daring fliers landing after breaking a record, or starting off on a long-distance flight. Here's one that is a little different. Amy and her husband are pictured in St. Moritz, Switzerland, starting out on a ski to try a new kind of speed which is almost as exhilarating as flying.

Realization of Hopes

Depends On Making Best Use Of Present Opportunities

The story is told of Alexander the Great, that, when he was leaving Macedonia, he made so many lavish presents to his friends that one of them asked him, "But what are you leaving yourself?" The reply was, "My hopes."

So full was the mind of the mighty conqueror of the countries and nations yet to be brought under his sway and the treasures yet to be gathered into his stores, that all the riches already won were as nothing in comparison.

Men's greatest assets are their hopes. This is true especially of those who stand at the beginning of life and look eagerly forward to the good things which the coming years may bring. But it is well to remember that the realization of our hopes for the future depends on our making the best use of the opportunities of the present. Hopes are assets of the utmost value, but they will become "frozen assets" unless we do our part to give them life.

The revenue from the sale of hay permits on provincial crown lands during the year was $1,687, and on school lands, $1,057 or a total of $2,744.

JESUS AND THE SABBATH

Golden Text: "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath; so that the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath."—Mark 2: 27, 28.

Lesson: Mark 2: 13-3, 6.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 122.

Explanations and Comments

Criticized For Not Fasting, 2:18-22.—The Pharisees were continually being angered by Jesus' refusal to be bound by the religious practices of His time. There was only one day of fasting during the year prescribed by the law, the great Day of Atonement, but the strict Jews at this time fasted on two days each week. Jesus paid no attention to these weekly fast days.

Criticized For Breaking Their Sabbath Law, 2:23, 24.—A still greater offence to the Pharisees was the refusal of Jesus to be bound by their manner of keeping the Sabbath, which they had perverted from a day of rest and gladness to one of burdensome rules and gloom. They charged Jesus with allowing his followers to pluck and eat ears of corn as they passed through the fields on the Sabbath. On any day except the Sabbath it was lawful to do this, for the law in Deuteronomy 23:25 reads: "When thou comest into thy neighbor's standing grain, then thou mayest pluck the ears with thy hand; but thou shalt not move a sickle into thy neighbor's standing grain. To do this on the Sabbath, the rabbinical law claimed was wrong, and thus broke the fourth commandment, which forbade work on that day.

Jesus' Attitude That the Sabbath Was Made For Man, 2:25, 26.—Jesus waived the point as to whether the Sabbath had been desecrated, said nothing about the rabbinical law, but showed that laws could be set aside for good and sufficient reasons. There was a law that forbade the use of the temple could be eaten only by the priests (Leviticus 24:9), yet when David and his companions were hungry at Nob they received the holy bread from Abiathar the high priest and ate it. "Did ye never read what David did?" questioned Jesus. They must admit that it was at least as unlawful for David to eat the showbread as it was for Jesus to pluck corn on the Sabbath. The showbread was the freshly baked loaves made of fine flour which were placed every Sabbath on the table in the holy place of the temple (in David's time in the tabernacle) and left there for a week.

"Book and church and day are given For man, not man for God, or earth, nor heaven."—Whittier.

The Lord Of The Sabbath, 2:27, 28.—Then Jesus made His great announcement, the first part of which was that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. The Sabbath is a privilege, not a burden, and the way it is observed depends upon man's need and advancement.

"The Sabbath is a means to an end; the end is man's true welfare, the attainment by man of his true destiny. He is himself humanly arrived at his goal, has surely a right to say how the means may best be employed."—J. M. E. Ross.

Queen Mary Popular

Close To Hearts Of British People Says Prince Of Wales

The Prince of Wales is quoted as saying that his mother, Queen Mary, is closer to the hearts and minds of the English people than any member of the royal family. A motherly soul, the queen has a faculty of doing things that attract favorable attention. There is the case of Arthur Topham, for instance. He is one of the active workers at St. Stephen's Mission, Tooting. He is just 17, and when the mission decided to hold a bazaar, Arthur conceived the idea of writing to Queen Mary and asking if she would contribute a few gifts for the Christmas fair. Imagine the surprise of Arthur and the others in the mission to receive a reply from the lady-in-waiting to Her Royal Highness to the effect that the queen would be delighted to send some things. Later a parcel arrived with about a dozen articles, such as games, book-racks, egg-cosies, pictures and books. They were from the queen in response to the request. You may think that was a little thing for Queen Mary to do. Perhaps it was not spectacular. But it endeared her to the people of St. Stephen's, and to all others who heard about it. As the Prince of Wales remarks, his mother is close to the hearts of the people.

Actor Leaving London

Sir Henry Lytton, who has appeared in Gilbert and Sullivan operas for nearly 30 years, made his last bow to London audiences at the close of the season at the Savoy, January 21. However, he is not thinking of retiring although he is 66, for he has booked a provincial tour which will extend well into 1934.

Shakespeare never made a continuous journey so far as a trip from Regina to Winnipeg.

No Merger With Canada

Premier Of Newfoundland Says Confederation Not A Live Issue

Possibility of confederation with Canada is not a live issue in the Dominion of Newfoundland, Premier F. C. Alderdice has stated definitely that the subject was not even discussed during the Imperial Conference at Ottawa, nor in the negotiations with the United Kingdom and Canada which led up to the two governments ending the island dominion's $1,250,000 month to help her meet bond interest.

Nor has the disposal of Labrador been considered. Despite the premier's vigorous denials, however, and the general incredulity with which the popular press current reports, the two hard perennials—confederation and Labrador—have been getting some attention lately from the gardeners of gossip.

Apparently the announcement on December 29, that pursuant to the British and Canadian loans, a royal commission would examine "into the future of Newfoundland," had the effect of starting the confederation subject again. The premier replied with an emphatic "No!" when he was asked if any such interpretation could be placed upon the statement.

There is no doubt that confederation would be opposed strongly in many quarters should the question become a serious issue. Newfoundland's widespread clamor in this island, an ingrained opposition to anything that might tend to submerge Newfoundland's identity as Great Britain's "oldest colony and newest dominion."

Mussolini Made Good

Showed His Power When English Lady Was Cheated By Watchmaker

An English lady bought a lovely watch in Rome, and paid £55 for it. Proud of her buy, she took it to a London shop to have it appraised before insuring it. The jeweler told her the watch might be worth a pound, but no great bargain at that. Enraged, the English lady could think of only one thing to do. She sat down and wrote direct to Mussolini, telling of the deception and adding bitterly that she didn't think ruling such a people was anything to brag about. In a couple of weeks, back came a letter from Rome. Dico apologizing for the incident, saying that the lady didn't really judge all his countrymen by the one bad example she met, and enclosing his own cheque for the amount of £35.

A couple of weeks later the lady got another letter from Italy—but it wasn't from Signor Mussolini. It was from the brigand who had sold her the watch. The government, he said, had closed down his shop, fined him, and was about to escort him to jail to do a six month stretch. Would the lady please intercede?

The lady, very much awed, decided she wouldn't.—From Fortune.

IT HAS ITS POINTS — AND THEY'RE SLENDERIZING GRACEFUL ONES

One of them is the deep inset vest with brief bolero effect that narrows the bodice breadth. The paneled skirt is smart and slimming. The puffed sleeves, just moderately full, with snug fit about the wrists, give the arm graceful length. Carry it out as the original in black rough crepe with the vest and rolled collar of geranium-red crepe—you'll adore it. Crinkly crepe satin can be used to smart advantage, using the reverse surface for contrast. Sheer woollens and velvet are also suitable.

Style No. 963 is designed for sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust.

Size 36 requires 3½ yards 39-inch with ½ yard 35-inch contrasting. Price of pattern 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

Halfway there, disaster overwhelmed them, sudden and stunning. It came from the air, in the shape of a pair of red-throated loons. Flapping heavily out of the west, the birds dropped with a loud splash not ten feet away from the two men.

At the splash Alan heard a muffled oath over in the flags; then a rustling movement, as though the bandits had nervously jumped for their guns; then silence. And then a voice from the twilight among the reeds:

"Nothin'. Jus' a pair of divers plumped down."

The alarm would have blown over if the loons had swum off. But the birds, crop-heavy and indolent, stayed where they were, showing no intention of moving away. As the female started preening herself, the male turned its eye suspiciously at the two strange objects sticking above the water.

What startled it Alan never knew. Bill did not move; he himself did not bat an eyelash. But in that jumpy tap silence the male suddenly threw open its beak and sent a raucous, maniacal shriek, as though some animal had seized it by the neck.

Instantly its mate joined in. The jarring, ear-splitting discord set muskrats diving off their houses and flushed every waterfowl in the lake a hundred yards distant. With a last frantic peck the loons taxied over the water, finally managing to take wing, and flapped heavily away.

But the damage had been beyond retrieve. All that hour and a half of careful stalking, all the great caution and pains of slipping unawares upon the bandits, had been set at naught by the crazy shriek of a crazy loon.

Over in the murky twilight of the flags there was a commotion, sharp orders, the click of rifle bolts. At the edge of the flags a gun cr-a-ack, a rope of flame reached out, a bullet ricocheted off the water.

It was a shrewd manoeuvre from the bandits, a tentative shot to draw the fire of their stalkers and discover where they were. Alan was quick-witted enough to see their motive and to lie low; but Bill jerked his rifle against his cheek and shot point-blank at the spur of the fire.

A cry of pain went up. His bullet had scored. But the shot gave away their hiding. With all hope gone now of getting the drop, Alan scrambled behind cover of a muskrat house, fairly dragging Bill after him.

Half a dozen rifles exploded in the flags. Alan thrust his rifle over the top of the house and emptied it at the flashes. A bullet from a Savage, a sharp-cracking deadly Savage, hit his weapon, smashed the mechanism, numbed his hand, and drove jagged fiery bits of steel into his fingers.

For several minutes the bullets of the bandits beat a thudding tattoo against the mud mound. As best they could Alan and Bill lifted their belt-guns over the top of their shelter, and fired back. They heard no more yelps of pain. They were shooting wildly, aimlessly. Realizing this, believing the bandits had crept into the run and were sheltered by its banks, Alan stopped shooting and checked Bill.

Yonder in the reeds the fire died away raggedly. A silence fell. A minute lengthened into two, three, four. Alan heard, or thought he heard a faint rustling, a faint gurgling of water. He listened intently, but did not hear it again.

With his plans all shattered, with the twilight steadily deepening, he was torn with desperation. If he and Bill moved, it was sheer suicide. If they crouched, they were longer, where they were, the bandits would certainly slip away from them in the coming dark.

As he fought to think of a plan that would break this deadlock, he heard a loud whistle, a clear shrill whistle from Larry's direction. It was Larry signaling.

He sprang up. "Bill! They've backed away, they've slipped us, they're breaking for the lake! Larry's alone. We've got to help Larry!"

They splashed out of the pond and into the flags, in a frantic effort to reach the lake edge. The marsh reeds clutched at them, tripped them, wrapped around their legs. Savagely they tore their way through to get into the clear in time to help Larry stop those bandits.

As he swung his clubbed rifle, smashing a pathway in front of him, Alan heard a lone gun cr-a-ack over on the lake, and heard the snarl of half a dozen repeating weapons answering it like an echo. They drowned, they overwhelmed it. The lone gun did not speak again.

It seemed hours to him that he fought and tore through the dense flags, to reach the open and help a comrade who was standing up against the rifles. Before he broke through to the clear, the uneven battle had ended. As he burst out to the lake edge, he had a glimpse of the police canoe drifting helplessly out in the middle; and across at the far side he saw two long blurred objects just entering the deep-water channel.

Numbered and dazed at those six men escaping, there was a moment when Alan could only realize that his patrol had failed. That those criminals had vanished into the twilight and were lost in this watery wilderness, with pursuit utterly hopeless now.

In the next moment he heard a sound, a sound like a growling voice calling his name. It drew his eyes to the drifting police craft. What was it doing out there? Like a flash he understood what Larry had done. When the bandits started across the lake to escape, Larry must have seen he could never stop them in the semi-darkness except at point-blank range.

In the police canoe he must have come fearlessly out at them, alone. This first deadly volley had got him. That growling voice was Larry's.

Bill came bursting through to the clear. Alan whirled on him: "Bill! They got Larry. He's wounded. Head here!"

Toasting Bill his belt-gun and broken rifle, he ran out into breast-deep water and struck out powerfully for the drifting canoe.

By a provident mercy he reached it in time. With half a dozen holes splashing water into it, the craft was filling, tilting, about to overturn.

Larry lay at the bottom of it, writhing in pain.

By heroic struggles, swimming, pushing a deadweight ahead of him, Alan got the craft into shoal water, put his hand under its keel then, and kept it afloat.

He dragged it to the bank just as Bill came splashing around the lake edge to join him.

"Alan! What happened? Where'd they go?"

"They got away. They're gone—gone. Forget it. Help me, Bill—with Larry."

Together they bent over their bleeding, stricken comrade, and together they lifted him tenderly ashore.

CHAPTER V.

The Broken Sword

By the light of an electric torch Alan cut away Larry's clothing and examined his wounds. Larry had been shot twice, and both wounds were fearsome. One bullet, a stoching slug, had struck him squarely in the knee, cruelly shattering the bones. The second had pierced his chest high up, just beneath the shoulder, and had passed entirely through his body. Stealing himself to the ordeal, Alan worked desperately with Journalist and tiny medicine kid Bill he had stanching the bleeding. Before he finished, Larry was rousing faintly from the bullet shock.

Half an hour later, when Alan had done all he could and Bill had managed to patch the canoe, they turned their faces toward home, in defeat, in sorrow, in an anguish over Larry.

Alan picked him up in his arms, gently and tenderly, trying to keep that fatal bleeding from starting afresh. With Bill following him, staggering under the weight of canoe, gun and pack, he headed back toward the Alooska branch.

For an hour they stumbled along, plowed through bog and mire, groped through the tall impending flags. It was an hour of darkness, of blind heroic struggle. But they reached the Alooska branch at last and set the canoe to water; and making Larry a soft bed of flags, they began their sorrowful journey.

They Refused to Stop or Rest.

With no sleep in more than fifty hours, with all that long hard chase behind them, they were on the verge of exhaustion, and could make no time. Their hands were raw with blisters from paddle work; their faces were bleeding from insect bites; their whole bodies ached intolerably. They were muddled, wet, gaunt with hunger, heart-sick from the disgraceful failure of their patrol. But they refused to stop or rest; Larry had to be taken home quickly; the hours were a matter of life or death to him. With dogged courage they drove themselves on.

With his spirits at so low an ebb, the picture of that fur pack in Dave MacMillan's shed rose before Alan's eyes, and he foresaw the inevitable consequences to flow from that discovery. In his exhaustion, with all the buoyancy of hope drained out of him, he no longer could feel that somehow he was going to get Joyce's father off lightly. He must take Dave into endurance and enter charge; and now, with these bandits escaped, Dave would bear the whole brunt of the law's retribution. He felt that all the rest of his life he would be haunted by the memory of Joyce's pale face, frightened and anguished, in the cold grey dawn of yesterday.

In this whole miserable business—Jimmy Montgomery dead, Larry in the shadow of death, that tragedy hovering over innocent Joyce MacMillan, the bandits escaped and the patrol disgraced—in all this evil-doing, only one thought held any comfort for Alan. It was a vengeful thought, born of a savage and vengeful mood. He held a sword

SOURD ON THE WORLD?—THAT'S LIVER

Wake up your Liver

—No Calomel necessary

Many people who feel weak, nervous, generally, are the victims of a liver that is not working properly. The liver is the largest gland in the body and it is the only one that does not secrete its own juices. It is the liver that filters the blood and removes the poisons. If the liver is not working properly, the blood will be impure and the body will suffer. The liver is the only organ that can be kept in good health by taking a small amount of Sourd on the World every day. It is a natural and safe way to keep the liver in good health and the body in good health.

now over Inspector Haskell. Haskell had ordered this patrol to be split. Out of his ignorance and jealous anger, he had issued that crazy order, and it had wrecked the patrol. His gross incompetence, which heretofore had been only a vague charge hard to prove, now stood out glaringly, in all its inescapable guilt.

Has Exciting Job

Life Of Quack Doctor Detective Full Of Thrills

The wealthiest man in Detroit today has had angina pectoris in six languages, yellow fever in at least eight—including the Scandinavian—and spots before the eyes in practically every dialect.

He is Otto Fischl, who speaks seven languages, and it is his business to be ailing. Never a day passes that he doesn't have something. His last "illness" required 63 different medicines to treat—only he didn't take any.

The man of many maladies is a special investigator for the City Board of Health, and it is his job to uncover medical quacks and charlatans who practice in Detroit. He was selected because he is in perfect health, and because he looks a little like a man about to be stricken with practically everything.

Fischl's job isn't a pleasant one, and often it has proven dangerous. Always he is in disguise, and always he has a symptom, sometimes many symptoms. He buys a sample of the medicine prescribed, testifies to the method of treatment offered, and starts on another case.

Recently he visited the office of a foreign-speaking "doctor," disguising himself as a factory laborer. In his best Bohemian, he listed an array of symptoms, and gave a foreign name.

The "doctor" asked him to lie on an examining table. Then, deliberately, he drew from his surgical case a long, thin knife. He leaned over his patient.

"Do you happen to know a fellow by the name of Otto Fischl?" he asked, quietly moving the knife closer to Fischl's chest.

"No," said Fischl, his heart turning to Fischl's chest.

The "doctor" abruptly walked across the room and stood for several minutes beside a window.

Suddenly he wheeled about.

"Hey, Fischl," he called.

The trembling patient made no move. Finally the man strode to his side.

"You know what?" he said, grinning. "I thought for a minute you were Otto Fischl, the detective. And, you know what? If you had answered my call I would have carved out your heart."

Fischl completed his case and left, in a hurry.

Lesson Has Been Costly

Canadian Borrowers Should Protect Themselves Against Exchange Vagaries

Canadian borrowers may, of course, learn some lessons from the present rare experiences. Some of these were referred to in The Financial Post somewhat over a year ago when it was urged that Canadian cities, provinces and corporations should never again make their securities payable in anything but the lawful money of Canada; that they should, if necessary, pay a slightly higher borrowing rate in order to protect themselves against exchange vagaries and absurdities. If Canadian cities and governments and our larger corporations adhered firmly to such a policy and were supported by Canadian banks and investment bankers, foreign buyers of our securities would be in time forget about New York and London payments entirely.

Canada has benefited from the investment of foreign capital but a great deal. If this capital has been obtained at much too high an ultimate cost. We would have been better off without it.—Financial Post.

Get Rid of That SORE THROAT!

Any little soreness in the throat grows rapidly worse if neglected. Crush some tablets of Aspirin in some water, and gargle at once. This gives you instant relief, and reduces danger from infection. One good gargle and you can feel safe. If all soreness is not gone promptly, repeat. There's usually a cold with the sore throat, so take two tablets to throw off your cold, headache, stiffness or other cold symptoms. Aspirin relieves neuralgia, neuritis, too. Use it freely; it does not hurt the heart.

Changed Attitude Of Americans Towards The War Debt

When, in 1918, on the invitation of our Foreign Office and an American committee, Sir George Adam Smith went to the United States to speak on the "Moral Aims of the Allies," he had to address in April, along with Mr. Taft, a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, called by the Chamber of Commerce, and attended by over 700 men of business and the professions. Mr. Taft, who was not then in office, said in the course of his address: "I hear that our Government is lending very large sums of money to Great Britain. As an American citizen I trust that we shall never acknowledge a single cent of it. Because for three years Great Britain has been standing between us and the monster." This was loudly cheered by the whole meeting.—British Weekly.

Freedom From Gossip

Would Set Communities On Road To Happiness and Success

Had we power to give the average city or town one gift, this New Year's season, we would give it freedom from gossip. Says an editorial in the Rotarian Magazine. That gift would mean more for human happiness in homes and community than a million-dollar factory or a bumper wheel crop on a dollar market. Gossip, plain devil-tongued talking about other people, is an outstanding social curse of our day. More homes are broken, more happiness is ruined, more careers are downcast, more banks are closed by the careless repetition of guesses, rumors, scandals, half-truths and untruths than by any other one cause. Any community which substitutes true neighborliness for gossip, sincere helpfulness and friendship for scandal-mongering, is on a good, smooth road to happiness and success.

Record Wheat Crop Is Forecast By

The Wheat Purchase Board. A record wheat crop of more than 10,000,000 bushels which will include an exportable surplus of 2,390,000 bushels, is forecast by the New Zealand Purchase Board.

The local price to the growers is fixed at three shillings and four pence, f.o.b. (80 cents at par), with the possibility of further payments later from the compulsory wheat pool. The pool is designed to maintain the average value of wheat based on the New Zealand home consumption value at four shillings and five pence a bushel ($1.06 at par) and the probable export value of half a crown (60 cents at par).

TRUE TO LIFE STORY

The following story applies to one or more of those who are today prominent in Communist circles in the Crows' Nest Pass. It's not necessary to mention any names, for they are better known to the average citizen than the bible by a long chalk:

Landlady: "Yep, gone, owin' me three weeks' rent! That's gratitude. I got him three good jobs, and he quit all of 'em, the ape! He sure fooled me with his chatter. Always jammerin' about his rights, and how much he wanted work! What the—! Say, ain't that him now? What'll I tell him? Can you do it for me, John?"

"That mug on the soap box? Say, madam, it'll be a pleasure."

Soap Box Mug: "Work, comrade! Elah-blah! I demand work!" For policeman John: "You can't make me pay that rent. You can't do a thing to me; I know the law!"

Police: "Sure, I'm goin' to do you a favor. You've been hollerin' for work, and I'm goin' to fix you up with some. You're goin' to move this fifteen tons of coal from the front of my basement back to the boiler room, see I'll credit it on the rent you owe the landlady. I'll make an honest guy out of you, if I have to crack your skull with this bat!"

TOO GREAT A BURDEN

The inflationists and the "standpatters" are having a merry yep! battle these days with the political and monetary powers on the side of the latter.

The bank's presidents are supporting the premier and the minister of finance in their statements that inflation would be a bad thing for Canada. They say that the "radicals" and "know-nothings" do not realize what they are advocating.

Maybe so. But how is it that Australia is prosperous under inflated currency. Gold, normally worth $20.63 an ounce, is worth $40 in Australia. Wheat and other primary products are away up when measured in Australian money.

England's currency is depreciated, but we are informed that England is in better shape than many other countries who still adhere to gold. How is that?

Possibly we are all "cock-eyed" over this question, but when the proof is at hand that countries of the gold standard are doing better than countries on it, it is difficult to believe that there is no merit in currency inflation.

We fully realize that inflation would work a hardship to the moneyed classes and would depreciate the earnings of labor, but the burden on the primary producer is more than he can bear. As time passes on this is becoming more and more manifest.

The sanctity of the gold standard in Canada has been upheld by the sufferings of too many of her people. It is too great a burden.—Hanna Herald.

POOR DOG

So often we hear a man called a dog when some one wants to reproach him. And yet, a dog

Doesn't swear,
Doesn't drink,
Doesn't cheat,
Doesn't swindle,
Doesn't smoke,
Doesn't flirt,
Doesn't pretend,
Doesn't borrow,
And wouldn't even resent it if you called him a man.

THE CHURCH WITH NOBODY IN IT

James Kinner wrote, of a house, one time.

"The house with nobody in it!" And said whenever he passed it by He always stopped for a minute. For the saddest thing of all he saw Was a house with a crumbling roof, With its blackened shingles and broken sash, And a tone of sad reproof.

But sadder far than a vacant house— Yes, lonelier far, I think it— Is a vacant church, an empty church, A church with nobody in it. With its lighted lamp, and its table spread,

And its open door to the street. Where a Man-God waits and sits and sobs

In a loneliness complete.

Another house may crumble in time, Its sons and daughters roam, But it's not to think that the Father of All Should live in a lonely home. The parent of all, the lover of all, He sits in a vacant room; While the homes of the world are full of joy,

His home is like the tomb.

I never go by an empty church, I always stop for a minute;

For the saddest sight in this whole wide world

Is a church with nobody in it.

In a city of homes, of happy homes, One home that stands apart—

The home of Christ, the vacant home, The home with a broken heart.

—Rev. Hugh F. K. Sharkey.

THE TALE OF A SHIRT

A chap of the tourist variety came to the door the other day and asked if the editor had a cast-off shirt he could spare him. The only one that had been cast off was produced and after an examination by the visitor, brought the reply: "The one I have on is better than that." And thereby hangs a moral. Many women have found that a small amount of wax is necessary on the ironing board for a successful work. A self-waxing board is made by drilling five holes in one end of the board to one-half its thickness. Besswax is poured in these and covered with two thicknesses of muslin. ## WHAT HAPPENED ON SUNDAY AT UNITED CHURCH

In last week's issue an article appeared under the caption, "United Church to close its Doors." Briefly, the article pointed out the possibility of such a condition really existing in the future, unless the people wakened up to their own responsibility in the matter.

The response on the part of the people to that appeal was gratifying. More than one hundred people were present at the service, and a fine feeling of fellowship resulted. For this response the writer is thankful, but YOUR MINISTER IS NOT SATISFIED. There are still vacant seats, and there is room for improvement yet. Over 115 families are under the care of the United Church and many of our people are not yet attending regularly. We can do better. Will you not accept this invitation to come back to the services of the church? If I can get in touch with you I shall be only too pleased to visit you in your home, but unless I know of your existence I cannot do so.

EXAMINE YOUR POSITION with reference to the church. Have you a really valid reason for your non-attendance? If the church were to close its doors, would you not wake up to the fact that, despite its weaknesses, which you often make the excuse for your absence, the church's contribution of good to the community far outweighs the faults of her membership? In any human institution you will find human failings.

Neither ministers or people are perfect, but are needy human beings such as yourselves.

WHAT'S DOING NEXT SUNDAY. The regular service at 7:30 will be brief, but will be followed by a social hour in the auditorium of the church, when we shall have an hour of fellowship and friendship in an informal way. Then there will be a report of the activities of all the church groups during 1932. Come along and you will be made welcome.

—A. E. LARK.

CORRESPONDENCE

Blairmore, Alberta.
January 15th, 1933.

To the Editor, Blairmore Enterprise.
Dear Sir: Will you please once again spare me a space in your valuable paper to answer a letter which was put in last issue by a Julia Johnson.

To Miss Julia Johnson: I realize you are such an unsophisticated piece of insignificance that I disdain a reply to your letter, which I read in the Blairmore Enterprise of the 5th inst.; but your ignorance will lead you to a misconception of my silence.

You ask if I would call Mr. Wootton dishonorable. When I wrote the letter you refer to, I made it very clear what I thought of him, and any other person who claims to be British, yet gave their voice and hand to him being suffering and disgrace on men that looked up to them for guidance.

"Strangers in a new Country." When Stokoluk talked treason at the first Red meeting that was held in Blairmore Union Hall, that was the time the true British were thro' with the M.W.U. of C. Neither is it British principle to use threats and intimidation to hold men together, that had not as much courage as their brothers. Every man has a right to his own opinion; but the organization you uphold takes away that right from him. The real British spirit won't stand for that; he is and will be a man, free to follow the dictates of his own mind. What is your hidden motive for such activities on the prairies among the farmers? Do you believe if they could be persuaded not to seed their land it would bring about a shortage of farm produce and wheat, which would help bring the population nearer to starvation, which you hope would in turn make it easier to stir up revolution which was foisted this spring? What is the hidden motive for wanting cash in place of scrip? Is it not to get money to help pay the expenses of the fellows who have done the last piece of dirty work for you? What high aims, hopes and ambitions you have in life. I'm sorry you did not make a success of your education—it would have broadened your mind. Is it possible for a person whose brain is functioning normally to believe they can kick at something invisible until it is kicked right out of a country. I am referring to the letter you put in the paper some time back, in which you praised the idiotic speech which was delivered from the band stand, viz: they (people in Russia) had kicked God Almighty out of the country. What a terrible state you have allowed yourself into. When writing, never use words you don't understand. "Desperation! Who is showing desperation? Certainly not members of the Blairmore Miners' Association. They are living within the law as cool and collected as ever.

A "parasite" is an animal which attaches itself to another body and feeds off it. You can't say that of our fellows. This trouble is all because we wished to be self-supporting. Now, which is a man—one who stays with the crowd because he is scared to break away, or those who stand by their principles, facing all difficulties manfully? I hope I have answered you satisfactorily. If there is anything more, let me know in plain, simple form, so I may understand. In the meantime, my advice to you is, try and mix in better company and help lift yourself up out of the awful mess you have allowed yourself to be led into.

Here's hoping that Harvey Murphy's prophecy regarding Bill Knight's chances of "capturing the mayor's chair" will be no nearer correct than his prophecy that John O'Sullivan, another Red, would head the poll in Calgary. We look forward to people exercising their minds aright when it comes to the secret ballot.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

There was considerable excitement in town around eleven o'clock on Tuesday morning, when the coal shed in connection with the telephone office caught fire. The origin of the fire is not definitely known, but it is supposed to have kindled into flame from live coals which had been accidentally scattered near the building when Miss Aileen Cooper tripped when emptying a pan of ashes. The fire engine was brought to the burning building immediately and the flames were extinguished in a short while. As this structure was centrally located, other nearby buildings were endangered, had the fire not been brought under control before possible high winds swept the flames onward. The loss, we understand, is covered by insurance.

Miss Rosalie Shambroon, of North Fork, who has been on an extended visit with relatives in Spokane and other points, has returned, much the better for her trip.

Duffield, Misses Dora Day, Netta Swart, Edith Murphy, Marion Morrison, Clare Bundy, Muri Smyth, Muriel Marlow, Josephine and Lili-

lan Porter, and Masters Jack Cowin, Ronald Morrison, Gordon Swart, Leslie and Ralph Day, Stanley Snyder and Jack Bundy. A right lively time is reported.

M. A. Murphy is a Calgary visitor for a few days this week.

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Cowley School District was held in the school house on Saturday afternoon. After routine business was cleared away, two trustees were elected, to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mr. Ed. Labrie, Mr. Wm. Tustian, and Wilfrid Fortier for the three-year term. An animated discussion took place on the collecting of taxes and teachers' salaries. According to reports read, the district is seriously falling behind in tax collections, and with debts contracted, when wheat tipped the market at $1.20, most rigid economy will have to be practiced now, in order to keep both rooms of the school operating. However, an effort will be made by the citizens of the district to keep the school open and running up to its usual standard of efficiency. Comment was made on the perfection and comfort found in the construction of the new school house, and also on the neat and painstaking manner that Mr. George Baker, caretaker, keeps the school and grounds.

At another meeting on Friday, the officers were elected. A very enjoyable sacred concert was held in the Columbus hall on Sunday evening, for which no charge was made and to which the public were welcomed.

Rev. Roy C. Taylor, B.D., has been extended a unanimous call to the pastoral charge of St. Paul's United church at Coleman. We understand the call has been accepted.

E. S. Duncan, of Banff, recently elected vice-president of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, has been re-elected member of the Banff school board by a margin of one vote.

One of the best hockey games of the season was that played between Bellevue and Blairmore, at the local arena on Thursday night, when a small crowd of fans witnessed Bellevue taking a two-one defeat.

The entire "Red" slate has not been announced, but we understand one supporter is offered the post of poundkeeper, his remuneration to be half the proceeds. Well, that may be all he is worth, and in the whole of the year 1932 the sum amounted to the large sum of $6.81.

Since Joe Fitzpatrick has been announced as looking forward to the job of chief of police, and Bill Knight and Lady Knight to soon occupy the mayoral mansion of the town of Blairmore, rumors last week end already had it that our present chief and mayor were preparing to relinquish their positions to these would-be successors. The rumors were unfounded, however, and were simply the outcome of the receptions given our would-be royalty by other children of Hillcrest and Blairmore last week end.

We recently attended a press convention at Calgary. Upon our return to Blairmore, an inventory of the contents of our club bag revealed the following: ladies' stockings, 4 pairs; combinations, two only; 4 sets knitting needles; 4 skeins yarn, two compact, two cases assorted cosmetics, a small mirror (two-faced), four sets curling tongs, one pair lady's shoes, one lady's sweater, one nicely-trimmed hat, silk handkerchief (apparently not printers'), a speaking tube, four fancy engagement rings, seven greenhorn love letters, one partly written reply (not signed), a rolling pin (dinted), bottle of Krusch salts, 2 bottles face cream, an eggbeater and two packages cigarettes. We have not yet recovered our club bag.

Last Friday, Mrs. Cahoon met Mrs. Johnson on the street in Coleman. "How's your daughter Mary?" asked Mrs. Cahoon. "Ah, thanks so much for the askin', but Mary was o.k. when I lift her this morning; but, sakes alive, ye kin never tell, with so many automobiles and buses rushin' around nowadays, poor Mary may be hurled into maternity at any moment!"

The Human Factor.

In these days when so much is being said and written about plans, and systems, and machines, and institutions, it becomes all the more necessary that sight should not be lost of the most important of all factors in our individual and community life, in fact in our present day civilization, and that is the human factor.

Man has demonstrated that he can invent a machine and so improve it that it is almost perfect in its operation and in doing what is expected of it with the result that, when it does fail, that failure is to be attributed in the vast majority of instances to the person who is in control and directing the operation of the machine. In other words, it is the human factor not the machine that is found to be weak and faulty and breaks down under stress and in emergencies.

For example, if a study is made of the records of automobile accidents it will be found that the majority of accidents is not due to poor tires, faulty brakes, poor construction or materials used in any part of the car or even to bad roads and adverse weather conditions, but to the drivers of cars. Poor judgment is displayed in an emergency, downright selfishness influences the driver in his attitude towards other drivers, recklessness leads to the taking of desperate risks, in a word, it is the human factor, not the machine that is at fault. And what is true in the case of the automobile will be found to be true in varying degrees of all machinery.

Not only so, but the same statement may be made without fear of successful contradiction in regard to all man-made or evolved institutions, systems and plans. Of course, no machine or no institution or system is perfect, but as the years roll by they are constantly improved upon and brought ever nearer perfection, although, admittedly, perfection will never be fully attained. But such approach to perfection is not attained by destroying the existing machine or institution, but by improving upon that which exists until, in course of time and through experience, a new machine has been evolved which replaces the old one, or a new scheme has been evolved which, because of its many advantages over an old one, gradually replaces it. It is, in fact, not a new scheme at all, but an evolution of a development out of the old one.

There is a tendency in these troublous times to lay all the blame for our difficulties upon the machine, to denounce our systems and methods of government, our methods and ways of distributing commodities, the institutions through which we finance the purchase and sale of goods and services, as alone responsible for the evils against which we are presently contending. Perhaps machine production needs to be more effectively controlled, and our institutions, systems and methods further improved. Improvement is always necessary, and furthermore it is always taking place. Mankind is not slipping backward, but is constantly and steadily going forward. And, if, temporarily, we have allowed things to get out of gear; if the machine is running wild; if our systems of government and of life are proving unequal to the strain we have put upon them, is the fault in the machine, or the system, or is the fault in the human factor which created the machine and established the systems and then failed to guide them aright?

Scrapping all the machines in the world today, over-throwing every existing form of government, every system in the financial or economic world, every man-made institution, and replacing them with something entirely new would not provide a solution for the world's troubles so long as man and women with the same characteristics, the same nature, the same prejudices and passions, the same greed, in a word all the same human limitations which now hamper and control us, remain in control.

Our churches should be as near perfection as anything in this world can be, but they are not; indeed, they are far from it. Not because they are not founded upon the highest ideals, because they are, but because a church is just what the people who constitute that church are. The worst of a democratic form of government, but it is full of weaknesses and admitted evils, not because the principles upon which democratic government is founded are weak and evil, but because our present-day democracy—that is, the people—themselves create the weaknesses and are responsible for the evils. Leaders of political parties are blamed for many things against which they are constantly fighting but which are forced upon them and their parties by the rank and file of the people.

If all men were honest in their thinking and in their dealings with one another; if in their desire to prosper they also controlled their greed; if in demanding recognition of their own rights and opinions and beliefs, they were likewise ready and willing to accord a like recognition to those who held contrary views; if, in a word, the human factor was stronger, better and a little nearer perfect, the world would be less cause to condemn machines, systems and institutions. More than anything else in the world today, it is man who is at fault, and the fault extends all the way from the man whom the world regards as being at the top to the man who is at the very bottom.

We are told that the law of the jungle prevails; that it is still a case of the survival of the fittest. It is largely true, and why is it true? Because it is, after all, Nature's law. All Nature proves it, from the tiniest insect or plant to the largest. Nature's law rules supreme in the animal, vegetable and mineral world. It manifests itself among the fishes in the sea, the birds in the air, the vegetation in the fields and forests. It influences all mankind, but, given a brain and reasoning powers, man has steadily risen above the beasts. He has not attained perfection; far from it. Nor can he attain it by Act of Parliament, through any given system, but only by the steady upward climb, higher and ever higher above the lower animal world.

God and Nature alone are perfect, and men can alone draw closer to that perfection by subordinating the evil and the gross in his nature to that which is good and beneficent. What the world stands in need of today is a decided improvement in the human factor. That accomplished, and our other much discussed and highly desired betterments will quickly follow.

World Will Right Itself

Past Events Prove Hard Times Cannot Last Forever

In dark days—"All wrong." The above was the caption on a handbill distributed some time ago on the streets of London. Under the caption was printed the following list of predictions:

William Pitt—"There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair."

Wilberforce, early in the nineteenth century: "I dare not marry, the future is so dark and unsettling."

Lord Grey in 1810 said he believed "everything is tending to a convulsion."

The Duke of Wellington, on the eve of his death, in 1851, thanked God that he would be spared from seeing the consummation of ruin that is gathering about us."

Disraeli in 1849—"In industry, commerce and agriculture, there is no hope."

Queen Adelaide said she "had only one desire to play the part of Marie Antoinette with bravery in the revolution that was coming on England."

Lord Shaftesbury in 1848—"Nothing can save the British Empire from shipwreck."

The circular concluded: "We came through all right, and shall do so again."

In commenting on present conditions Sir Wilfred Grenfell says: "To adopt an attitude of defeatism is a negation of our heritage as a Viking race."—The Christian World.

New Camera Perfected

Device Checks Mistakes Of Witnesses In Street Accidents

An "evidence camera" to assist courts reconstruct serious automobile accidents and keep check on witnesses' testimony was demonstrated before the International Association for Identification. The camera is the invention of Andrew Kavanagh, chief of police at Rochester, N.Y., who perfected it in co-operation with camera experts.

The device consists of the camera set up over a miniature diagram of streets, complete with signal lights, and other pertinent features. Witnesses questioned immediately after an accident are required to place the diagram automobiles in the diagrammatic street positions applying at the time of the accident and the layout is photographed and filed for presentation in the event the witness deviates from his original story in court.

Turner Valley Gas

Estimates Place Life Of Field From Five To Twenty-one Years

Estimates of the life of Turner Valley as a gas field varying from five to 21 years were submitted recently to the Turner Valley gas conservation board, holding public sessions here before making final recommendations to the Alberta Government to permanently control the open gas flow of wells in the valley.

A. A. Carpenter, chairman of the board, announced the board had reduced its estimate of the life of the field from nine to seven years. In a tentative report issued a few weeks ago, the nine-year limit was set on a flow of 200,000,000 cubic feet daily, to which figure the board cut the flow from the original 400,000,000 cubic feet. Mr. Carpenter said revision of figures placed the life closer to seven than nine years.

Our Likes and Dislikes

Many People Do Not Know What They Really Enjoy

Half the evil of this world comes from people not knowing what they do like, not deliberately setting themselves to find out what they really enjoy. All people enjoy giving away money, for instance; they don't know that—they rather like they like keeping it; and they do keep it under this false impression often to their good discomfort. Everybody likes to do good, but not one in a hundred finds out. Multitudes think they like to do evil; yet no man ever really enjoyed doing evil while God made the world.—John Ruskin.

Shipping Tied Up

Thousands Of British Seamen Are Out Of Work

No industry more anxiously awaits some definite step toward the convening of the much-advertised world economic conference than the shipping industry of Britain. To this conference ship-owners look to break the vicious circle of tariff barriers, unfair competition, subsidies on uneconomic principles and selfish restrictive regulations which have combined to bring the proud seafaring men of this country perilously near to economic disaster. In the estuaries and harbors of Britain today millions of pounds' worth of shipping are tied up, deteriorating rapidly, and piling up heavy maintenance charges against owners with little hope of ever again putting to sea. Twenty per cent. of all the world's shipping is idle, the aggregate quantity tied up amounting to 15,000,000 tons. Thirty-two well-known British shipping lines at the moment are paying no dividend on their ordinary shares, which means the impoverishment of hundreds of thousands of small investors all over the Empire.

It is estimated that foreign nations for the past several years have been spending $150,000,000 yearly on embassies to shipping. At the same time all sorts of restrictive laws have been passed against the natural operation of shipping and old regulations have been tightened. Today, while every port in the British Isles and in the whole Empire is free to shipping of all nations, British ships are barred from the coastal trade of many countries.

If British shipping were subsidized on the same relative scale as their foreign competitors, it is stated that the British taxpayer would have to find more than $100,000,000 annually. Meanwhile, British shipping lines are forced to curtail expenses in every possible direction; thousands of splendid seamen are out of work, and British shipyards, with a capacity output of 2,500,000 tons a year, at this time have only 120,000 in hand.

Has No Substitute

Home Training Is The Best Builder Of Character

Boy crime is frequently ascribed to the effect of the criminal stories of the movies and the radio. In our day it was the dime novel that was supposed to be the lad's undoing. No boy had to read a dime novel, of course, and the boy has got to read or listen to the radio, and no parent has to permit him to do any of these things if it is supposed to be bad for him. We have an old-fashioned idea that the parent has more to do with the boy's troubles today than that older generation gets credit for, and we will probably be accented for stating it, but here it is:

There is no substitute for home training. Home training has largely been left to the schools and social agencies. The schools can not do it all, and in so far as the social agencies are successful they relieve the home of its duty. That is not the best road to the building of character in the child, and it may account for a good deal of present waywardness. Does anybody agree with us?—Detroit Saturday Night.

In Great Demand

Companies After Man But Not For His Services

A man applied to a famous film producer for a super job. Like so many other super men in Hollywood, he had had no work for weeks.

"Well," replied the magnate, "I might be able to use you. See me in a month's time."

"If you want me at all," replied the actor, "you'd better put me on the pay-roll right now. There are a lot of other companies after me."

"Yes," answered the director, who had often heard that remark before. "And what companies are they?"

"Well," said the actor, "there's the light company, the gas company, the telephone company, and—"

The director laughed and the man was put on the salary list.

Wife—"So you think my new ball gown looks like the deuce?"

Hub—"In the card sense, my dear. The deuce, you know, is the lowest possible cut."

Royal Bank Of Canada Presents Strong Statement

CASH ASSETS 164 MILLION DOLLARS

"Canada has maintained her credit unimpaired."

Sir Herbert Holt deals vigorously with railway and other national problems -- Emphasizes need for Government Economy -- Imperial Conference -- Canadian Business Conditions -- International Outlook.

Mr. M. W. Wilson reports on satisfactory year's operations -- Central Bank Discussed -- Measures needed for business recovery.

The Sixty-fourth Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada marked the close of a very successful year. The Statement submitted showed the Bank to be in a very strong liquid position. Of the Total Assets of $765,512,920 the Liquid Assets amounted to as much as $251,929,015. These were equal to 32.86% of all Liabilities to the Public. An outstanding feature of the Liquid Assets was the large holding of Cash Assets which reached a total of One Hundred and Sixty-Four Millions.

The Annual Meeting brought together a large number of shareholders, and was marked by interesting and instructive addresses by Sir Herbert Holt, the President, and Morris W. Wilson, Vice-President.

Vigorous comment and suggestions as regards several of the outstanding domestic problems of Canada, and an able summary of the world economic situation and the prospects ahead; a strong plea for the maintenance of the Canadian railroads, as the only manner in which the grave Canadian railway situation can be salvaged; intervention by the provincial governments to conserve Canadian natural resources and to prevent the collapse of the vitally important newspaper industry, if the present efforts being made to secure co-operation are not successful; and a condemnation of excessive government expenditure, featured the address of the president.

Sir Herbert said in part: "The power of resistance which this country has shown during the third year of the depression is a credit to our constitution. With financial assistance from other countries other than a small amount of re-financing, which has been a strictly business matter, with currency depreciation in terms of gold limited to a very modest percentage, and with none of the restrictions on foreign exchange or international trade which have been found inevitable in so many cases, Canada has lived up to the letter of her constitutional and moral obligations unimpaired. In doing so she has followed the tradition of the British Empire as a whole. It is an exaggeration to say that the stability and soundness of the Empire's banking and financial system played an important part in the creation of this good record."

Railway Problem. In referring to the report of the Royal Commission on Transportation, Sir Herbert expressed the opinion that co-operation between the two found systems to effect mutual economies would prove drastic enough to cut down the excessive degree of annual deficits of the government railways, and expressed the conviction that the solution lies in complete amalgamation. He felt that of a monopoly were grounded and under proper safeguards unification would result in a co-ordinated transportation system, a decided need of this country and conducted at a minimum of expense.

Government Expenses. "For many years, Government expenditure has been on a very excessive scale. Extravagance has characterized the budgets of national, provincial and municipal governments. Throughout the country there is a general demand that budgets be balanced and every effort made to lighten the heavy burden imposed upon the people by reducing the unduly heavy taxation."

"There is a noteworthy duplication of Government in Canada which has led to the excessive cost of administration. We must seriously consider whether this country can afford to maintain as many as nine Provincial Governments, together with the Federal Government, each with an elaborate staff to organize and administer."

"The whole population of Great Britain is governed by a single Parliament which has no legislative, executive or judicial powers for all internal matters, but also for those which concern the Empire as a whole."

Reviewing the Imperial Conference at Ottawa, Sir Herbert said that the material achievements attained were a triumph for Bennett and his Government.

In concluding Sir Herbert said:

"I have no confidence in the character of our people and of our institutions, and without minimizing the importance of the problems that must be met, we must look to the future with increasing optimism."

that Canada was fully capable of meeting any further tests which might be imposed but felt that present indications pointed to the initiation of a recovery in 1933 if reasonable degree of international co-operation, co-operation and co-operation could be secured.

Gen. Manager's Address.

Mr. M. W. Wilson, Vice-President, General Manager, referring to the position of the bank, said that an outstanding feature of the Statement was that cash and cash balances totalled $164,630,000, or over 24% of public liabilities. Liquid assets being equal to over 32.86% of public liabilities. He mentioned the capacity for improvement in the present system of government which took place during the year, and said: "Canada again proved her capacity to meet the requirements of the public bodies. During the year the average yield on Dominion Government long-term bonds declined from 5.20% to about 4.83%. This represents a distinct advance in the Government improvement which in due course should be carried farther as additional funds for investment in gilt-edged securities."

Pointing out that the banking system of Canada adequately serves the needs of the country, he said that a Central Bank could perform few services not available under the present system, and would not in any sense do away with the necessity of requiring adequate security for banking accommodation, nor prevent banks to undertake long-term transactions, and that short-term advances for reproductive purposes. Recognizing that the question of currency was not one to be disposed of summarily, he said: "I should hope that if the Government were to deal with the matter, the Government will first have the project examined by a body of experts, including several from other countries who have had extensive practical working of a central bank, and that the reluctance to tinker with our financial machinery in a time like this."

"Price Restoration.

"On previous occasions we have stressed the importance of restoring the purchasing power of the dollar to approximately 1924-28 levels. I remarked last year that such action was essential to the present situation is to be liquidated in an orderly manner, pointing out that inflation had been carried to extremes and that anti-inflation measures were urgently required. Recently, price levels continued to fall, and the rise which commenced at that time has since been cancelled. The decline for the year, as indicated by the United States Bureau of Labor Index, was 1.5 per cent. compared with 13 per cent. in 1931, and 17 per cent. in 1930. The rate of fall was not as much as the rate of fall was appreciably less than in previous years."

"The vital necessity for increasing prices is now commonly recognized, and the difficulty of countering deflation increases with the depression continues. We hope that the forthcoming meeting of the Imperial Conference will point the way to constructive action in this respect."

"There is little inclination to indulge in prophecy as to the future. As Sir Herbert stated, there are indications of a gradual increase in stability throughout the world. This is particularly true in Europe, where conditions were anything but favorable a year ago. In the United States, the financial crisis is apparently over, and a return of greater confidence is in evidence. Many problems of business readjustment remain to be solved, but the progress toward recovery has been made, and the prospect for the future is more hopeful than it was a year ago."

"I have no confidence in the character of our people and of our institutions, and without minimizing the importance of the problems that must be met, we must look to the future with increasing optimism."

Headaches and Dizzy Spells Nerves In Bad Condition

Mr. Neil Crawford, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "My nerves were in such a bad condition that it was almost impossible to get a good night's sleep. I was also bothered with headaches and dizzy spells."

I tried many different remedies, but they did not seem to give me much relief, but after I had taken Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I could hardly believe the change they had made in my condition."

FAVOR SCHEME FOR A SHORTER WORKING DAY

Ottawa, Ont.—Plans are on foot here on Capitol Hill by which the Dominion Government will enforce a scheme calling for a compulsory shorter working day.

Such a law would affect all workers, skilled and unskilled. Not only would it be made effective in industrial plants, but also it would extend its scope to laborers and office workers alike. Every wage-earner would be compelled to cease work after a given number of hours per day.

It is definitely understood here that the plan is supported by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and most of the provincial premiers, and for certain by all western premiers. Labor leaders and the department of labor at Ottawa are also said to be backing the plan.

According to information it is proposed to place the scheme before parliament at the earliest possible date in order to make the plan effective within a few months' time.

It is understood, too, that a similar proposal to shorten working hours is taking shape in the United States, but is made more difficult of fruition there by a wider power of state autonomy.

As a first step in carrying out the proposal, it is learned, the provincial governments would surrender their provincial departments of labor, placing all labor under the control of the federal government.

A shorter working day, and therefore a shorter week for all wage-earners, according to the plan, would not be a fixed period for all classes of employees, but would vary according to the type of work and the need for re-employment of jobs in that section of industry or business. Such details would have to be worked out by the government or a special commission.

For Research Work

Western Canada Workers Received Grants For Scientific Work
Toronto, Ont.—C. S. MacDonald, Toronto, has been appointed chairman of the board of the Banister Research Institute here, succeeding Sir Robert Falconer, Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, was appointed vice-chairman. The following workers from western Canada received grants from the institute during the year 1932: Dr. M. Cantor, University of Alberta; S. Weinstein, Saskatchewan; and Prof. R. F. Shaner, Alberta.

Merely a Rumor

Russian Deal For Canadian Wheat May Never Develop

New York.—Sources close to the Amtorg Trading Corp., Soviet Russian commercial representative in the United States, said negotiations regarding a rumored $20,000,000 bushel wheat deal with Canada were merely "conversational" stages.

No contract, it was said, had been closed, and it was indicated some time might elapse before such a transaction might take tangible form, if ever.

No Cadet Training

System Will Be Discontinued In Toronto Schools

Toronto, Ont.—The death knell of cadet training in Toronto schools and colleges was sounded recently as the Board of Education adopted a resolution to discontinue it.

The present system, which has been in force for 50 years, will cease to exist after Sept. 1, 1933.

A progressive, wide-spread physical education will be introduced in its stead.

Women Thieves Brutal

Chicago.—Two women burglars who tortured their housewife victim by burning the soles of her feet with heated matches until she revealed the hiding place of her money—$10—were reported to police. The victim was Mrs. Rose Schmalzer, 22. The attack was made while her husband was at work in a bakery.

Sino-Japanese Problem

League of Nations Making Final Effort Towards Reconciliation

Geneva, Switzerland.—League of Nations assembly leaders prepared for a final effort at conciliation of the Sino-Japanese conflict without any real hope that Tokyo would accept the league's scheme for settling the dispute.

The Japanese delegation was very busy exchanging communications with the home government regarding the Geneva situation.

Vosuke Matsumoto, Japan's chief representative, reiterated that his government would insist that the assembly refrain from denouncing the establishment of the government of Manchukuo in Manchuria and from condemning Japanese policy in Manchuria since September, 1931, as an unwarranted aggression.

There appeared to be no disposition in the Japanese quarters to accept the Japanese view of these questions. Unless something unexpected develops, officials believe the assembly's committee of nineteen will advance to paragraph four, article 15, of the League covenant and will make a report on the dispute without regard to Japan's opposition. Paragraph four provides for such a report with recommendations for League action.

Deaths Arouse Suspicion

Three In Ontario Township Are To Be Investigated

Toronto, Ont.—A series of three deaths of residents of York township and East York in a period of over three years have aroused sufficient suspicion to be followed now by investigation under the direction of the attorney-general's department and the York township police, the Toronto Telegram says.

"Police investigations will probably result in the exhumation of the body of one of the deceased with a view to holding a post-mortem to determine whether poisoning was the cause of all three deaths."

"The deceased persons," whose deaths have aroused suspicion among their relatives and friends are: Mr. Bryans, East York; Mrs. Stalman, York township, aged 90 at her death, and her daughter, Miss Edith Stalman, aged 52, at her death," the newspaper says.

Cabinet Crisis Threatened

New Zealand Minister Of Finance Has Resigned Office

Wellington, New Zealand.—Hon. W. Doveale Stewart, Minister of Finance, has resigned his office, and a general belief is the government, headed by Mr. H. G. M. Forbes, will be able to carry on.

Difference of opinion with the remainder of the cabinet on the question of exchange rates and the establishment of a central bank are said to have brought about Mr. Stewart's resignation, and it is considered possible other members might follow his example.

There has been some hope that Mr. Stewart could be persuaded to continue in office, but he remains adamant in his decision. While it is possible city members of the cabinet may follow Mr. Stewart, there is a general belief the government, headed by Mr. H. G. M. Forbes, will be able to carry on.

Japs Round Up Radicals

Arrests Included Many Girls Belonging To Wealthy Families

Tokyo, Japan.—Removing a publication ban, Japanese authorities announced the details of a country-wide round-up of 2,000 radicals. The arrests occurred late in October, following discovery of widespread Communist activities aiming at eventual overthrow of the existing social system.

It also was announced that 7,000 radicals in all were arrested in Tokyo during last year, most of them educated youngsters in their early 20's. These included girls, many of whom belonged to wealthy families.

Annual Race On

New York.—The annual race of Australian windmills carrying cargoes of wheat to the British Isles is on. A special cable to The New York Times from Adelaide, South Australia, says the first of the wheat race ships left January 16. Both are expected to take about 100 days for the voyage.

Irish Start Boycott

Dublin, Irish Free State.—A boycott campaign against British goods entered fresh stages in Dublin when bands of young men entered public houses, leaped upon counters and smashed bottles of British-made ale. Advertising signs were wrecked.

U. F. A. DECIDE TO LINK WITH C. C. FEDERATION

Calgary, Alberta.—Three hundred delegates to the United Farmers of Alberta convention here swung Alberta's strongest political farm organization under the banner of the newly-organized Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation.

After listening to speeches for an hour, including an encounter with a woman not a member of the U.F.A. who sought to oppose principles of the C.C.F., the delegates by an almost unanimous show of hands endorsed affiliation previously taken by executive members at the birth of the C.C.F. here last August.

True voting strength which the U.F.A. will bring into the Dominion-wide co-operative organization is doubtful, but leaders of both organizations are confident Alberta would send strong representation into the Federal House after the next election.

The United Farmers of Alberta is represented in the House of Commons by seven members, with Robert Gardner, its president, leader of the Progressive group in parliament. It is the party behind the Alberta administration of Premier J. E. Brownlee, and in a legislature of 63 members has 37 seats.

Voting of official affiliation by the convention marked the open union of the U.F.A. with the organization which its leaders helped greatly to create. Birth of the C.C.F. came through bids of the U.F.A. to create a working agreement with other co-operative and labor organizations of the Dominion.

Each of the three prairie provinces' wheat organizations is now affiliated with the C.C.F., United Farmers of Manitoba and United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, having previously voted favorably to alliance on much the same terms as Alberta.

United Farmers of Ontario became affiliated last December at the annual convention of the organization at Toronto and numerous labor bodies in both east and west have joined the Commonwealth movement.

The declaration of affiliation read: "Therefore, be it resolved, that this convention directs the central board of our association to affiliate with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, it being understood that in affliating we retain at all times our identity and our autonomy as an economic group, in accordance with the declaration of principles adopted by the association in annual convention."

Want Thanksgiving Later

Toronto, Ont.—Claiming the recent change in the date of Thanksgiving day puts a severe handicap on the Canadian poultry trade as farmers find it impossible to get their turkeys into fit condition by October, the Canadian Produce Association here adopted a resolution asking the government to revert to the November date for Thanksgiving.

Uniform Companies Act

Measure To Be Designed For The Protection Of The Public

Ottawa, Ont.—The death knell for "evasive" companies was sounded at the Dominion-provincial conference. With marked unanimity, the delegates agreed that steps be taken to prepare a uniform Companies Act for the province and the Dominion.

The action is supported by a resolution of the Canadian Bar Association, passed in Calgary last September.

Designed for the protection of the public, the uniformity will correct an abusive situation developed over many years. The complexities have been many.

Incorporation applications have been made to the Dominion and provinces. Many have turned to the provinces later, with their varying provincial company laws. In a number of instances they secured provincial charters. Through the licensing provisions of some of the provinces, these concerns then extended their operations.

Aid To Humanity

Newspaper Publisher Says Machinery Is a Benefactor

Vancouver, B.C.—Machinery and the engineers who design it are humanity benefactors. Those who doubt this should look to Asia and India and see the work still done with human backs and hands, said Robert Cromie, published of the Vancouver Sun, addressing a largely attended meeting in Hotel Georgia under auspices of the engineering bureau of Vancouver Board of Trade.

Taking as his subject "Technocracy from the viewpoint of an editor," Mr. Cromie at the outset described technocracy as "the publicity side of technology," and held that the widespread discussion it has evoked will prove of great value because it will stimulate broader study of the relation of technological development to the future of the human race.

Proved Himself a Hero

Captured Fugitive Brought Help To Companions In Plane Crash

Prince Albert, Sask.—Hero of the plane crash at Moose Lake which claimed the life of Pilot W. A. "Burr" Spence, Buster Whiteway, of Berens River, will be brought to Saskatoon, through Prince Albert, as a captured fugitive wanted by the province of Saskatchewan. Inspector G. C. P. Montzambert of this R.C.M.P. district, ascertained this in a "phone call to The Pas."

Whiteway, thrown from the cabin through the roof in the fatal crash, was the first to regain consciousness and he brought aid to the other survivors. He is at present in hospital recovering from a fractured ankle which did not prevent him from struggling through the storm to bring aid to his companions in the crash, one of whom was Constable P. Greaves, of the R.C.M.P. who had him under arrest.

Endorse Calgary's Stand

Refusal To Pay Adverse Exchange Supported By U.F.A.

Calgary, Alberta.—The United Farmers of Alberta Convention adopted a resolution endorsing the stand of the city of Calgary in refusing to pay adverse exchange charges in meeting debt obligations.

Introduced after being adopted by the board of directors, the resolution declared the Dominion Government had "defaulted" in failing to supply Calgary with gold at par to make the payment. It termed the calling for exchange payment a "racket" and declared the city was justified in meeting its obligations in Canadian funds only.

AMALGAMATION OF RAILWAYS IS TO BE BIG ISSUE

Ottawa, Ont.—While the immediate reaction to the Beatty railway merger speech at Toronto has not been as favorable as proponents of the policy desired, it is clearly recognized here that the resumption of parliament will precipitate a bitter struggle.

Mr. Beatty's speech received ardent support in some eastern newspapers within a few hours of its delivery, but it is now apparent there are grave doubts that the amalgamationists can succeed and there is a distinct tendency to support the Duff report legislation in preference to the Beatty plan.

For one thing the government is believed to be uncommitted to any line of action with respect to railways. Many members of the cabinet, no doubt, favor the Beatty plan. But even Mr. Beatty, while he favors a merger, does not define the sort of merger he has in mind.

His speech, by inference, favors the Duff plan of 1921, which was that the Dominion should buy out the C.P.R. and turn all the railways over to the Canadian Pacific directorate under contract to administer and operate. If the government, as such, has any preference, it is believed this preference is for the Duff solution as set out in the Meighen bill now before the senate's railway committee.

The Montreal Star, which recently discussed the transportation problem under the caption: "The Railway Monster," comments, directly, on Mr. Beatty's speech. The Star more or less reserves judgment, but points out several weaknesses in Mr. Beatty's argument. It also dismisses as not substantial most of Mr. Beatty's criticisms of the Duff report. The Star believes the merger issues has now been joined and concludes its editorial comment by suggesting that the public may safely leave the final decision to Premier Bennett.

Mr. Beatty, it is believed, would scarcely raise such an issue unless he had the unanimous support of his directors and the support of his friends and advisors. It is thought he would not do so unless he believed there is an excellent chance of success. Coupling his speech with that of Sir Herbert Holt and other business magnates, it is presumed that exceedingly powerful interests are behind the drive for a railway merger.

The reaction among supporters of public ownership is to prepare for the battle. Hon. W. G. Ehler, former Liberal minister and the foremost of their advocates in the Commons, assailed the Beatty plan in a public address at Sarnia recently. At Ottawa there is any amount of informal discussion going on but an unwillingness to talk for publication.

CATTLE DEAL WITH SOVIETS IS ENDORSED

Calgary, Alberta.—Canadian-Soviet Russia trade deals became disclosed as a $7,000,000 proposition.

Endorsed here by the Alberta Livestock Growers' Association in a hurriedly-called gathering and by the United Farmers of Alberta in annual convention, the scheme in almost its complete details became revealed. Negotiations with the livestock association were made by G. G. Serkau, Winnipeg lawyer and leader of the Canadian syndicate sponsoring the deal, while the U.F.A. endorsed the scheme in resolution form.

Canadian ranchers and dealers in the stockyards will receive Canadian currency when their sales are made and the 100,000 head of beef and dairy cattle will be taken by the Soviet within one navigation season after the arrangements are completed. Export of oil and coal from Russia to Canada in exchange for the cattle will be spread over a two or three-year period, meeting Canadian demands as they rise.

Mr. Serkau outlined the proposals to the livestock association meeting and it was accepted the demand for Canadian cattle was to increase the price to approximately double the amount now being paid. Mr. Serkau admitted that approximately $7,000,000 would be involved, while ranchers foresaw distribution of this amount to livestock breeders in both eastern and western Canada.

Because the Soviet purchases would be 70 per cent beef cattle, the larger amount would go to the prairie and foothills breeders, while the 30 per cent demand for dairy cattle would prove of greater benefit to the Ontario and eastern Canada breeders.

Importation of oil into the Dominion would be on the basis of Texas gulf prices, explained to cattlemen as being the same to the oil industry as Liverpool prices are to wheat. Importations of coal from the Soviet would be the smaller part of the value, probably only $1,000,000. The coal imports would be a minimum of 3,000 tons monthly and a maximum of 10,000 tons monthly. The ratio of oil imports was not set but would be regulated by the syndicate on consultation with Canadian refineries, so as not to depress prices.

Western Canada Fairs

Class "B" Fairs Will Have All Canadian Platform Attractions

Winnipeg, Man.—P. W. Abbott, K.C., manager of the Edmonton exhibition, was elected president of the Western Canada Association of Exhibitions for 1933, and C. E. Groh, Portage la Prairie, re-elected head of the Western Canada Fairs Association.

Contract for all platform attractions for the class "A" exhibitions were awarded to F. Thauvin of Chicago, and he will also supply the band music, employing western Canadian musicians.

Also for the first time in its history midway and platform attractions in the class "B" fairs will be all Canadian, a platform attraction supplied by Nellie Simul, of Saskatoon, and the midway by Conkling's all-Canadian shows, Vancouver, B.C.

Building Permits

Manitoba Alone Registers An Increase In Construction

Ottawa, Ont.—Building permits issued in December last showed a decrease of more than $1,000,000 in value as compared with the previous month, and more than $6,000,000 as against the corresponding month of 1931, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

In December, 1932, construction work was valued at $1,480,731, against $2,505,300 in November, and compares with $7,895,106 in December, 1931.

As compared with the preceding month, Manitoba alone registered an increase in the value of the authorized building, showing a gain of $843,350, or 27.7 per cent. Declines were indicated in the remaining provinces.
